

WHO WE ARE

Michigan Public Power Agency (MPPA) is a project based Joint Action Agency

What is a Joint Action Agency?

Joint Action Agencies (JAA) were formed by groups of municipal utilities (members) throughout the United States to pool resources to provide reliable and competitively priced energy or energy related services. The principles of Joint Action are trust, mutual understanding and shared values. JAA's use collective efficiency to create value for its members. Project Based Agency means each member chooses the Resources or Services in which to participate.

Quick Facts:

Founded: 1978

Headquarters:
Lansing, MI

Members: 22

Operations: MISO
and PJM wholesale
power markets

MPPA members are Public Power Utilities

Members have the benefits of independence while leveraging expertise, resource sharing and economies of scale

MPPA VALUE PROPOSITION

- Aggregate, invest and share in energy supply resources and related services
- MPPA members obtain lower costs, diverse energy supply portfolios and focused expertise
- Customers benefit from reliable, clean and competitively priced energy supply

Landfill Gas

Solar

Wind

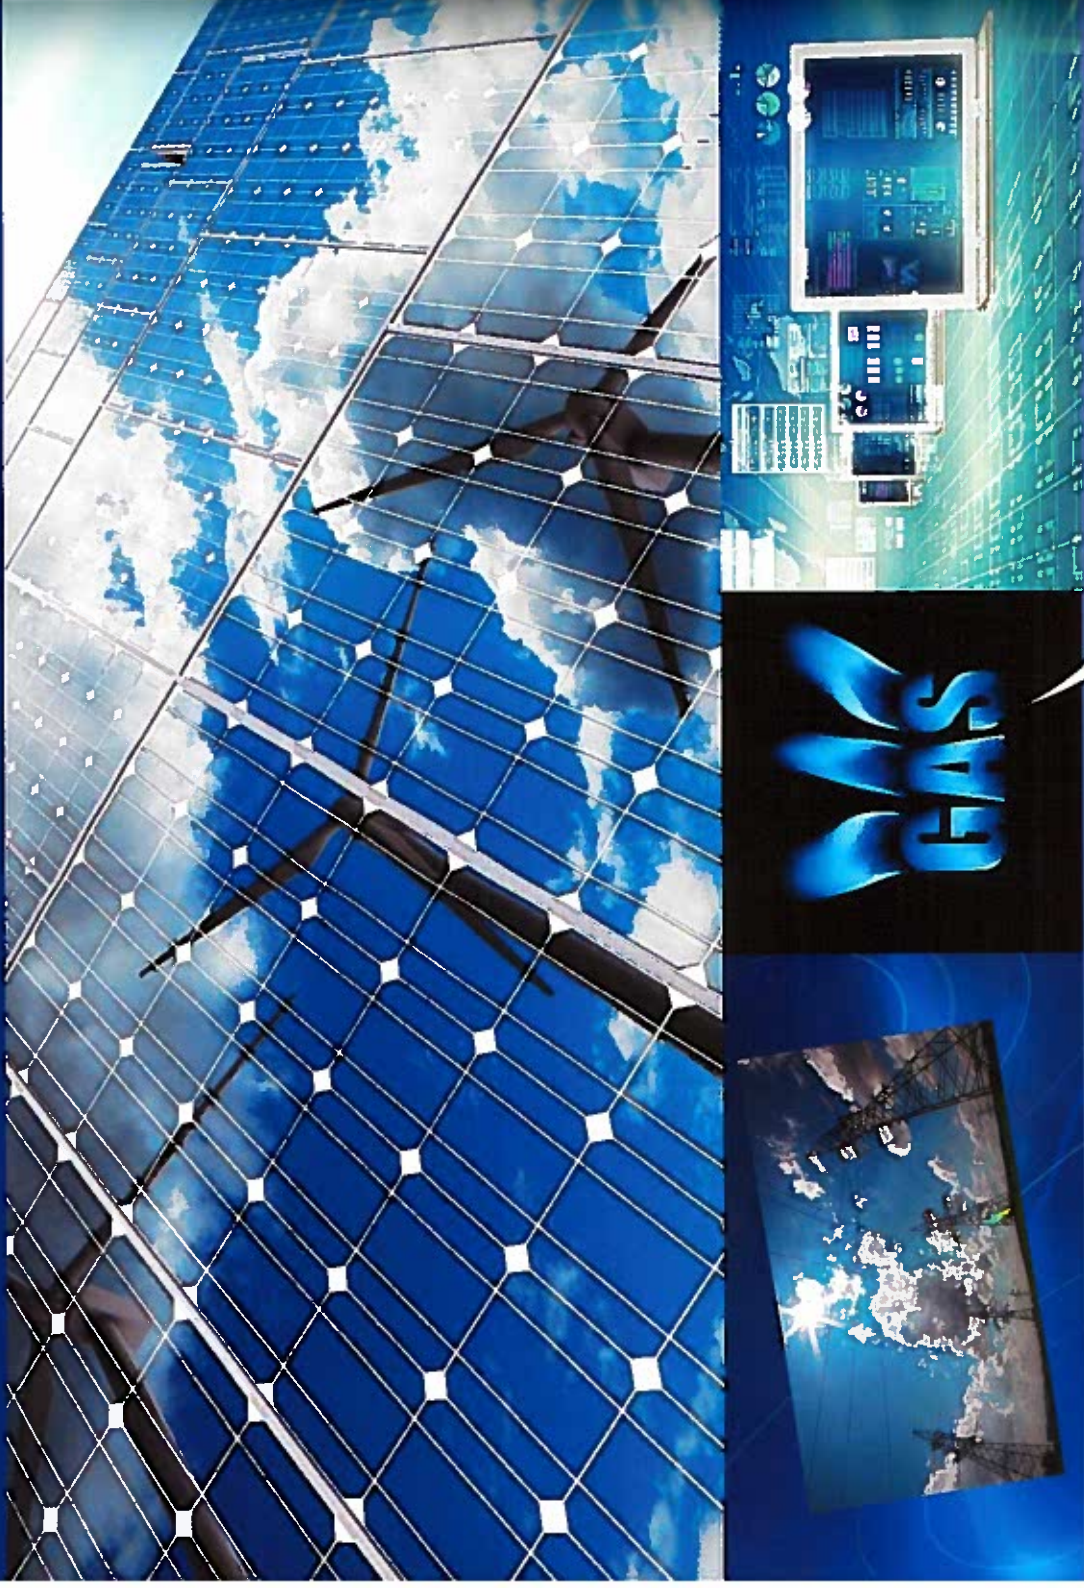

Coal

Natural Gas

Delivering Value Added Energy Solutions and
Services to its Members since 1978

Distributed Energy Resources

Renewable Energy

Natural Gas

Data, Meter and Information Management

Michigan Public Power Agency

809 Centennial Way, Lansing, MI 48917

517.323.8919 ph 517.323.8373 fax

www.mppower.org

POISED FOR THE FUTURE

